

FCC,

I don't even live in a city large enough to get the XM Instant Traffic and Weather information but I do know one thing. I know when the government is getting their hands dirty in my business.

XM Radio is a pay for service radio network. If I want to listen to local news, local weather and local traffic I can turn on my local radio. XM radio does not stop me from listening to local radio channels. I listen to NPR every day and it is not offered on XM!

Don't let the National Association of Broadcasters bully the FCC into taking away my freedom of information. I can pay to listen to what I want and don't need the NAB to use their lobby money to influence the Congress and FCC. If you do, it is obvious that you have been bought and are selling the public short!
